

Mansell has track sense

■ Scott Mansell in action at Brands Hatch. (SI)

CLIFTON race-ace Scott Mansell once again demonstrated what talent he has by finishing second at the Monoposto Winter Series at Brands Hatch – despite giving away between 50-60 bhp to his competitors.

Mansell (16) pitted his 600cc Jedi car against 1600cc cars over one qualifying session and three races and impressed everyone with his ability.

He qualified third for the first race and despite dropping back at the start

---

Motorsport news

---

to the more powerful cars, his race sense allowed him to pull it back and finish third.

He repeated the feat in race two and then enjoyed a good battle with a 1200cc car in the third race, finishing just 0.6 of a second behind in third.

Mansell's consistency gave him second spot for the whole competition.